Lisa N. Phillips
Associate

Ms. Phillips graduated from the Pennsylvania State University in 1987 with a Bachelor of Science in Biology, specializing in Vertebrate Physiology. After graduation, she researched mammalian receptor systems and their function at a small research pharmaceutical company in Baltimore, Maryland. This research culminated in a poster-abstract presentation at the 1990 Society for Neuroscience meeting in St. Louis that specifically addressed the function and development of the endothelin receptor in pre- and post-natal mammalian systems.

Shortly thereafter, Ms. Phillips joined a biotechnology firm as an administrator and later returned to law school. She graduated from the George Mason University School of Law with a J.D. with Intellectual Property designation in July of 2000. Ms. Phillips is a member of the District of Columbia bar (2004) and the Pennsylvania bar (2001).

Ms. Phillips focuses on primarily litigation, including patent-based litigations, on both pharmaceutical and non-pharmaceutical technologies, as well as contract-based litigations.
