Martin M. Zoltick
Member

Mr. Zoltick has broad intellectual property experience representing a wide range of United States and international clients in all aspects of patent, copyright, and related intellectual property matters including acquisition, exploitation, enforcement and defense. He has extensive patent litigation experience and has served as trial counsel in major patent disputes in the federal district courts, in Section 337 actions before the International Trade Commission, as well as in patent interference proceedings before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. He has developed a particular expertise in counseling both plaintiffs and defendants on damages in patent infringement suits and has published and lectured on the subject of patent damages, including co-authoring "Calculating Damages the Rite Way: Applying the Federal Circuit's Decision in Rite-Hite Corp. v. Kelley Co., Inc.," published in both Intellectual Property Today and International Legal Strategy.

Mr. Zoltick's practice also includes counseling clients on patent strategies, due diligence, and portfolio development, valuation, and acquisition. He has substantial experience in patent procurement, in preparing patent infringement and validity opinions, in handling transactional matters involving licensing, joint ventures, development and consulting agreements, and in dispute resolution and arbitration. He also advises emerging businesses on the development and protection of intellectual property rights in relation to raising capital, as well as in the creation and implementation of strategic intellectual property plans.

Mr. Zoltick has represented a wide range of clients, including independent inventors, entrepreneurs, emerging businesses, middle market and mature companies, as well as investors and venture capitalists. He has experience working in a broad range of technologies and fields, including computer hardware and software, telecommunications, internet and e-commerce, chemical coatings and compositions, pharmaceuticals, medicine, and apparel.

Mr. Zoltick was born in New York City in 1962. He received his B.S. in Computer Science cum laude from Northeastern University in 1985, and earned his J.D. in 1989 from Catholic University of America, where he was awarded the American Jurisprudence Award for Federal Civil Practice and Procedure. Mr. Zoltick was admitted to the Bar of the Commonwealth of Virginia in 1989 and to the Bars of the District of Columbia and the State of New Jersey in 1990. He is registered to practice before the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and is a member of the American Bar Association (Past Chairman, Patent Damages Subcommittee, Intellectual Property Law Committee 601 - Federal Trial Practice and Procedure; Litigation Committee), the American Intellectual Property Law Association (Member, Electronic and Computer Law Committee; Federal Litigation Committee; Interference Committee), Intellectual Property Owners Association (Member, Open Source Committee Member, Patent Interferences Committee), and the Computer Law Association. Mr. Zoltick worked as a Software Engineer at Data General Corporation before entering the field of law.
