The results of Benchmark Litigation stem from a research period, lasting from four to six months, depending on the region, where researchers conduct extensive interviews with litigators and their clients to identify the leading litigators and firms. During these interviews, researchers examine recent casework handled by law firms and ask individual litigators to offer their professional opinions on peers. Firms cannot pay to be recommended for the guide. Recommendations are based on interviews with the nation's leading private practice lawyers and in-house counsel.
