Rothwell Figg is pleased to announce that Michael Battaglia ("Mike") was named a member of the firm effective October 1, 2017.

"We are excited to welcome Mike into the firm's group of members," said E. Anthony Figg, member and founder of Rothwell Figg. "He has distinguished himself through his skills, accomplishments, and commitment to clients, colleagues, and the firm, and we will continue to expect great things from him. He will be an integral part of the future we will build together."

Mike's practice focuses on post-grant patent proceedings, patent litigation, preparation and prosecution of U.S. patent applications, and overseeing the prosecution of foreign counterpart applications. Mike's post-grant proceedings experience includes inter partes reviews, inter partes reexaminations, and ex parte reexaminations. He works primarily in the electrical, computer hardware, computer software, and biotechnology fields, but has experience working in the business method, telecommunications, and mechanical fields as well. Mike also has broad experience handling design patent, trademark, and copyright matters including opinion work and preparation and prosecution of design patent applications and trademark applications.
